Assignment 5: Book Review

4 pages (about 1,000 words)

As we discussed in class, this is not a book report that simply describes the content of the book, although description is part of a review. A book review contains five elements, integrated throughout the review: description, interpretation, evaluation, evidence, and context. They set the stage and then shape your commentary.

Please carefully go over the PowerPoint handout I gave you in the last class to prepare for writing your book review. The review is not due for quite a while, so you have time to become comfortable with the necessary components of a good review.
